Ride Report

Yowrie

We began and ended at a property in Sutherlands road, west of Cobargo, near the travelling stock reserve at Yowrie. (This being the starting point for many a good ride I have been on).

But this is a short report, so I shall not bore you with all the details of what wonderful food we ate and what a ripping socials time we had, no, no.

Or the faultless way things were organized and how our equipment is all now superiorly honed to its purpose.

Or how our back up crew diligently exercised their considerable skills in cooking, camp craft, driving, first aid, etc.

Or even how our cooks and helpers merged forth into a force of culinary expertise. (except Kerry of course who made excuses about not doing the washing up) Just kidding, actually Robert Abel paid me to write that... haha.

I shall not rave on about how our trail boss managed to find the way after not being there for 10 years or so, all this boring stuff I need not go on about because it is stuff that you know already because we are now so good at this caper these days, thanks to those of us with great organizational skills.

And I suppose that the vision of distant rocky pristine creeks with water flowing, viewed from a high goat track 50 meters above would all seem hard to imagine, had you not been there to experience it yourself.

As we all know, nothing compares to being let loose in this iconic isolated heavily forested countryside with nothing but native trees to pee behind, and a horse to carry you through it.

What is left to say, however, is that I had a fantastic time and so did everybody else. So we are all just waiting for the next one...

Happy Trails, Lesley
